

Kuler helps guide users to properly choose colors for digital and physical design. Using this tool really helps in envisioning the complementing colors in the end design without content overload. and envisioning

Facebook's chunking is a good as it gets. It manages to offer impressive amounts of choices any given page partially due to its consistent design. This makes recalling so much easier.

Youtube: Golden Ratio

Youtube uses the golden ratio almost exclusively with its video display and even the text boxes